The importance of education

The sociologist Karl Marx once said: “Restlessness is the locomotive of the nation.”, however the education has become a mechanical thing, preventing the imaginary process. Therefore, people don’t live their lives with the opportunity of choosing a way to study and how this choice will be important for all people in general.

“The education don’t change the world but it changes people and people change the world.”, according to Paulo Freire, the most important is how education is given for those who live in the world because the power to change is within them.

Fabiano Marra Ribeiro Junior, 19.

With education we can change not just one single citizen but a nation in general. It changes our points of view, the way we think and the way we act.

We develop common sense, we raise empathy, we qualify people. Education is the beginning and the end, it is the way to build a nation. It's not about money, a teacher who only becomes a teacher to gain money is not worth it, they don't have good values. It's all about knowledge, it's all about motivation.

Give books to kids, not rocks.

“The teacher doesn't transmit what he says, but what he is.”

- José Pacheco

Gabriel Henrique Souza dos Santos, 21 anos.

When talking about education, we have three good points to discuss: What's its definition, what we can consider a bad example of education and how the education influences our society.

We can define education as “the constant process of knowledge creation and the pursuit of transformation – reinvention of reality by human action – reflection.” (COSTA, José Junior Souza da, 2015). Therefore, every act that can modify a person or the society can be considered education. Also, every act that results in nothing is a bad example of education.

As a result, each fact about education modifies our society and the way that we transform our homes into a better place and also having more progress in our science.

Robson Brito da Silva, 19 anos.

Is education important?

Why do I need to study?

Will I use what I learned in school on my day-by-day?

The answer to all these questions is: YES!

Because it's not a simple "I want to study". You might go to school, do your homework correctly, copy the subject but what you must have is the will and pleasure of going to school and studying.

On the other hand, you are just obligated to do so and this is the reason that most of the students give up on school. Education is the base of everything that a person can possibly achieve, their goals and their being successful in their jobs depend on it.

Danilo de Oliveira Alves, 16 anos.

Why is the study so important?

How does the education influence the world?

When talking about education, a lot of questions show up, but what we need to know is: Education is the only and the best way to change our future.

Everything in our lives is difficult, but we can't let the difficulties put us down. We need to move on, we need to study, we have to be prepared.

Education is the base for you to change everything, you could create a way to show a child the power of education and how the study will be important to the personal and the nation's evolution.

So, the study is the best shot for you to stand out in your life.
